Of course, totally understand! I've sent your invoice for processing to our accountant. Let me know if there's anything else.

Best,
Stephanie

Thank you so much. It's just that I have to keep my public statements simple outside of the expert court witness work I do.

Absolutely, that is fine, and just to reiterate at this point the only intention with the Beacon is to use it as the vehicle to fund the report-- there are no immediate plans to publish anything on this report in the Beacon. If there were down the road, we would certainly discuss with you before proceeding. Sorry for any inconvenience or undue stress this has caused!

How about the commitment on attribution?

Yes, you are correct --that is the purpose of the report and I'll relay all this info to my boss. He had just mentioned in passing yesterday the possibility of a media write up as an afterthought , but that was not the purpose of the report and I highly doubt that will even be pursued--but regardless the Beacon is the entity we will pay from. Hope this helps, and of course we are happy to discuss further!

Stephanie:

When I undertook this project I understood that the purpose of the report was to inform a decision on the part of your client regarding a funding decision for the Evenwel Plaintiffs. Understanding this, I did the report for that purpose. If I had known that a media source was involved, which I didn't, I would have required an understanding as to the use of the information.

I am OK with your use of this report as long as there is a prior agreement on attribution. My position is that the report would not be attributed either directly or indirectly. Perhaps we need to discuss this.

I do not feel that any of the information, in general, will be any surprise to interested parties, except for the original stated reason for which it was commissioned. I trust we can easily agree on this issue.

My invoice is attached.

Tom

Hi, that was not the initial purpose of the report, which is to inform our principal's decision whether or not to fund a group handling the Evenwel lawsuit, although my boss mentioned it as a possibility that the Beacon could write something up on it, but would that be problematic? Please let me know if so!

Is this report going to be used as a basis for an article in the Free Beacon?

We estimate every percentage point in the response rate is worth about $80-90 million--that's a soft number though, we're trying to recalculate. That's about one million or so households.

So how many extra questionnaires would have to be answered to make this ad worthwhile?

They could really hurt the census. What do you think?

Please forward to stakeholders as appropriate. . .

The 2010 Census is now in full gear. As with any operation this large, there is bound to be misleading information circulated about nature and goals of the endeavor. Your office or your constituents may be receiving emails or inquiries about misconceptions on the Census.

The independent website Factcheck.org , has today posted a point by point rebuttal of this video. I draw your attention to it as it represents an independent defense of the Census Bureau and a comprehensive explanation of the 2010 Census, and its relationship with the other surveys conducted by the Census Bureau. This post is helpful in debunking many of the myths about the Census currently making the rounds, and I urge you to share it with your stakeholders and constituents.

You may also find the blog of Census Director Robert Groves on our website useful to answer other questions. You can find it on our homepage at www.2010census.gov.

Additionally, you may be hearing questions about the constitutional origins of the census or where in law the census questionnaire is authorized. For more information on these questions, we have created a page on our website here:
